DEHYDRATED ONION AND GARLIC

DEHYDRATED ONION AND GARLIC are highly important in the food processing industry due to their long shelf life, consistent quality, and ease of use. They retain their natural flavor and aroma while reducing storage, transportation costs, and wastage compared to fresh produce. Dehydrated onion and garlic are widely used in spice blends, ready-to-eat foods, instant soups, sauces, snacks, and bakery products. Their convenience, year-round availability, and strong demand in domestic as well as international markets make them essential ingredients, especially for export-oriented food businesses.

FREEZE DRIED FRUITS & VEGETABLES
